Q: What does your average day look like?

A: An event coordinator at Georgia Aquarium helps make sure that everything goes smoothly during special events. We host all kinds of events, from weddings and fundraisers to conferences and fancy galas. Our goal is to make sure every event is amazing and that guests get the best service possible. Event coordinators do things like checking all the event details, meeting with different departments to prepare, and talking to clients and vendors to help with any needs. They also handle any problems that come up on the day of the event.

Q: What path did you take to get to Georgia Aquarium?

A: While in college, I had a professor that knew the director of this department and she was able to put us in contact as I was curious about the events industry. At the time, there was no job opening but later on the director reached back out and invited me to apply for the position.

Q: What is your favorite part about working at Georgia Aquarium?

A: The community!
